Les Dames d'Escoffier Grant for Non-Profit Organizations that Train Women for Careers in the Food and Beverage Industries - 2010

Les Dames d'Escoffier is an international culinary society whose members are professional women in the fields of food, wine, other beverages, nutrition and the arts of the table. The organization strives to further the knowledge, education and appreciation of all aspects of food and beverage for both its members and the community. Its aim is to support women in related professions and to develop a networking system to broaden the opportunities available to women.

Les Dames d'Escoffier works to assist women interested in food-related work and to influence the hospitality, food and beverage service industries to grant equal opportunity and equal compensation to women.

Funds distributed through this Grants program are raised by Les Dames d'Escoffier and are designated to benefit women preparing for careers in food and beverage. Grants up to $5,000.00 will be given to support programs at non-profit organizations such as community groups, schools, food banks and soup kitchens that train women to enter the food and beverage industries. Organizations need not necessarily serve women exclusively, but the proposed project must be targeted to benefit women interested in food and beverage jobs.

Funding may be requested for a variety of activities such as developing or expanding a program, purchasing equipment or materials, hiring experts to conduct training, or supporting women newly entering the job market in the field of food and beverages.

APPLICATION DEADLINE:

The completed application is due by March 15, 2010.

Decisions will be announced by the Board of Directors of Les Dames d'Escoffier in May 2010.

Grants will be awarded at the Spring General Meeting between May 15 and June 15, 2010.
